NERVOUS ON 'CHANGE

AFTER EARLY WEAKNESS STOCKS AND BONDS STRENGTHENED.

The Financial Situation Shows Signs of Clearing Up-Local Business More Encouraging.

At New York yesterday money on call was easy at 266 per cent.; last loan, 2 per cent.; closed, offered at 3 per cent.

Prime mercantile paper, 609 per cent. Sterling exchange was dull, with actual business in bankers' bill at $4.89774.89% for demand and $4.874,04.874 for sixty days; posted rates, $4.88@4.89 and $4.30@4.90%; commercial bills, $4.86%.

Silver certificates, 676671/2c; bar silver, 66%c; Mexican dollars, 52%. At London bar silver was 30 9-16d per ounce.

Total sales of stocks were 269,370 shares, including the following: American Sugar, 44,800; American Tobacco, 8,900; Atchison, 51,600; Burlington, 19,200; Chicago Gas, 6,600; Distillers' and Cattle Feeders' Company, 3,400; Kansas & Texas preferred, 4,200; Louisville & Nashville, 12,600; Missouri Pacific, 5,800; Reading, 3,900; Rock Island, 9,900; St. Paul, 54,300; Southern Railroad, 3,200; Southern Railroad preferred, 3,600; Tennessee Coal and Iron Company, 4,700; United States Leather preferred, 5,500; United States Rubber, 4,700; Western Union, 10,300; Wheeling & Lake Erie, 3,800.

The stock market yesterday was nervous and evidence was pretty clear of support by powerful financial interests. There was sions. No loan certificates were applied for by any of the New York banks and money on call at the Stock Exchange did not exceed the legal rate, and eventually was offered freely at 2 per cent., closing offered at 3 per cent. The engagements of gold for snipmer by the rollweek steamer, though fairly lande, aggregating $2,725,000, fell short of extreme estimates. The reports of increasing faction between England and Germany on the Transvaal question disposed the financial community here to consider the prospect of trouble between this country and the first-named nation on the Venezuelan contro-versy as very remote. The initial prices recorded declines of 1@2 per cent., but the selling movement soon abated, and, on a considerable diminution in the volume of business, a rally occurred all along the line. The upward movement was inspired by large purchases of the international stocks for foreign account, which ied to pressure on the part of powerful lanking interests against the shorts. The dealings for London were estimated as high as 20,-600 shares, with St. Paul counting for hearly half of the total. The recoveries from the early low points extended to 314 per cent. in tobacco. Sugar rallied 25%; Consolidated Gas, 21/2; St. Paul, Burlington and New Jersey Central, 21/4; Pacific Mail and Leather preferred, 2, and Northwest, 2% per cent. Late in the day the market was tested by the bears and there was some liquidation, causing recessions of 1@21/2 per cent., the last in Tobacco. Among the less active shares some wide changes were noted. Minesota Iron gave way 19 per cent, to 53 and rallied to 55. Pullman receded to 148 against 155 yesterday and closed at 150 bid. Minneapolis & St. Paul second preferred dropped 5 per cent to 40, and recovered to In the final dealings prices stiffened generally. The closing was firm with the net changes irregular. Bond prices slumped sharply again yesterday, with Kansas & Texas issues conspicuously weak. The sales amounted to Government bonds were firm and higher. In State securities a slight decline occurred in Virginia Centuries on dealings of $6,600. The following table, prepared by James E. Berry, Room 16, Board of Trade, shows the range of quotations:

LOCAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

Trade Quite Active in Some Lines and Dull in Others-Sugars Lower. On the wholesale streets there is quite an active trade in some lines. On Commission row business is dull. One of the characteristics of the present conditions is se, much to the surprise of wholesale groers. Canned goods are being enquired for and moving better. Dry goods men are having quite a trade in a small way. Steady prices is the characteristic with dry goods. The hide market is more active with the advance in prices. On Commission row trade is quiet, prices ruing so low that to reduce them would not increase trade. The supply of apples is large, but much of the offerings inferior. Irish and sweet potatoes are in ample supply. Poultry and eggs on light receipts are very firm at prices quoted.

More is doing in the local grain market. Receipts the last few days have increased and shippers and dealers show more interest in cereals. Track bids yesterday ruled as

New York Mail and Express. A circulating picture gallery seems, the face of it, to be so good an idea that one wonders why it has not become an accomplished fact long ago. It seems that the Hull House settlement in Chicago is the first to carry it into effect. I do not know who is entitled to the credit for this bril-The plan is to circulate the pictures just as books from a library are circulated. Any one picture may be retained for two weeks, with privilege of renewal. The pictures are framed, and, it is said, they are cared for most carefully by their temporary owners. To poor art students, who are anxious to great boon. Instead of going to art, it brings art to them. The idea of the circulating picture gallery is not, however, meant exclusively for artists. It is designed to reach the poor, and to give them that love for the beautiful which must result in good. No one can hang a picture with any merit at all in it on a bare wall, upon which their eyes must rest every day, without being uplifted by it in that subtle fashion that only good pictures can exert. It is said that the pictures most in demand at the Hull House collection are Fra Angelico's "Paradise," the "Sistine Madonna" and others of Raphael's. would suggest the devotional spirit in a sense, and unquestionably contemplation of beautiful pictures does touch the spiritual side of one's nature.

TWO YEARS FOR DRUNKARDS. Novel Bill to Be Introduced in the Austrian Reichsrath.

The first instance in which a legislative assembly has treated the drink habit as a disease rendering its victim a source of danger to the state has just been provided by a bill now about to be introduced to the Austrian Reichsrath. This bill proposes to treat the persistent drunkard as a person who is mentally incapable and likely to inflict injury upon the community, not only by actual violence, but by his example. It is, therefore, proposed that the authorities shall keep him under control, both during good behavior and for such a longer term as, in the opinion of competent physicians, will serve to wean him from his craving for strong drink. This bill is the result of up with dynamite the house of Michael a long-continued series of efforts by the Girard, in Hazelton, Pa., and rifling the medical profession of Austria. The ground ruins. One of the members of Girard's has been taken that the position of the family was killed. The crime was comdrunkard in social life has not been hitherto | mitted June 28 of last year and since then properly estimated. It is argued that he the police are said to have been in search should be regarded more as a lunatic than of Spiro. is at present the case, and that he should be treated accordingly. There has always existed a feeling that the craving for drink, CHICAGO, Jan. 7.—On the Produce Exchange to-day the butter market was steady. Dairy 12620: creamery 19624. steady. Dairy, 12@20c; creamery, 19@24c. coverable error, not really a form of mental disorder. This, there can be but little doubt, is a false reasoning, for evidence has multiplied in recent years that the vicsists in a weakening or decay of the will power, coupled with a craving for stimu-lants. The restraint which the Austrian Reichsrath proposes to put upon the drunk-ard may take the form either of voluntary or compulsory detention in specially appointed retreats. In cases where the confinement is compulsory provision is made for a regular trial, in which witnesses, both lay and medical, will be heard. The justification for detention will consist in such WILMINGTON, Jan. 7.-Rosin steady; facts as repeated previous convictions of drunkenness, proof of danger to life, and other evidence strong enough to leave no doubt that the alcoholic passion has become ungovernable, and has rendered its victim morally or physically a source of danger to himself and others. The term of detention will be two years, and this term is liable to reduction or renewal, as the occasion may require. The drunkard will, therefore, be made to feel that he is not merely committing a misdemeanor when he tipples to excess, but a grave crime, for which the State will look him up and treat him as a person who ought not to be allowed at large. There is a vast difference between this mode of treatment and that in practice in other civilized countries, where a drunkard is locked up for a few days as a punishment for his offense, no alcohol. The danger in the latter case is. of course, much greater if the period of Dr. W. B. FLETCHER'S SANATORIUM, alcoholic excitement is a long one. In case the bill passes (and there is but little doubt medical opinions on this subject. Modification in detail may, perhaps, be found ad-visable as time goes on, but the profession will probably approve the bill on its gen-eral outlines. The attempt to repress the excessive drinking habit and to treat it as an ingrained vice, which has absorbed all traces of a resisting will, certainly deserves a fair trial. Every precaution will be made to render the preliminary investigation as searching as possible, and no personal privileges will be lost by detention. It is rather the purpose of the bill to protect the state and improve the condition of the victim than to inflict punishment. The patient's own interests will be served in a degree at least equal to that of his relatives and friends. It is probably true that some such measure will be adopted in all civilized countries in the course of time. A treatment such as this one here outlined would certainly result in the benefit of the patient, and the confinement would not be much lamented by his family. A TEMPLE OF MAMMON.

On the 15th of January the bankers of New York will meet and dedicate to the god of money the finest financial temple in the world, the new clearing house which has street, between Wall and Nassau streets. at a cost of $1,500,000. Bishop Potter will offer prayer. Frederick D. Tappan, president of the Gallatin National Bank, chairman of the building committee, will make a report and deliver the building to Willlam Nash, president of the Corn Exchange National Bank, who is also president of the Clearing house Association. J. Edward Simmons, president of the Fourth National Bank, will then deliver an address, after which the guests of the occasion will be invited to partake of an elaborate luncheon. The lower stories follow Corinthian lines and present handsome pillars and a frieze of elaborately carved marble. The dome is thirty feet in heighth and of exquisite proportions. The entire building will be used for the clearing house, except the ground floor and a portion of the basement, which has been rented to the Chase National Bank, which is to be congratulated upon having the handsomest office in the world. It includes 8,000 feet of floor space, with an enormous vault in the center, and large windows on all four sides. The president, Mr. Henry common, $1.50@2.20; lambs, $3@4; Southern W. poses. On the second story are the ad-ministration offices, reception rooms, committee rooms and a large hall for the meetings of the association, which is perhaps the most sumptuous in the United States. There is also a library in which the members of the association can find every work of value that relates to banking and finance. The remaining part of this floor is devoted to the cash department and the clerks of the maneger. The third floor contains the exchange or clearing room, lighty feet square, with the great dome for its roof. Here will be the desks of the sixty-six banks belonging to the association, all of them under the eye of the manager, who occupies a gallery in an alcove at one end. In the rear of the clearing room is a dining hall and kitchen, a bathroom, storage room and accommodations for the janitors. Although but sixty-six banks belong to the Clearing-house Association, the business of cighty-four other outside banks is transacted through members every day. Last Friday the clearings amounted to $159,000,000, in which $9,000,000 of actual money passed from hand to hand. It is not generally known that the New York Clearing-house Association is not an incorporated body. It is simply a mutual benefit concern, which rests upon an agree-ment signed by its members and kept in its vaults. That agreement is the only originally drawn and signed on the 11th day of October, 1833, for the purpose of effecting at one place the daily exchanges between the several associated banks, and the payment at the same place of the balances resulting from such exchanges. It may be interesting to some readers to know how the business is conducted. Formerly banks used to send messenger boys around to the other banks of the city to collect the cash upon a bundle of checks which had been deposited by its customers. Each bank did the same, and the consequence was a great deal of trouble, time and risk. Now all this is done at a clearing house. Every morning at 10 o'clock there assemble at the clearing house two clerks from each of the banks belonging to the association. One, the settling clerk, enters and occupies a desk that has been assigned to the institution he represents. The other, or delivery clerk, takes his position before one of these desks with a large pocketbook in his hand. Promptly at the hour the manager strikes a gong, when each of the sixty-six delivery clerks takes from his pocketbook a package of checks upon the bank whose representative sits at the desk beside him, and gets in exchange a receipt for the amount they represent. He then advances to the next desk, where the same transaction takes place, and so on until the circuit is completed, and every one of the sixty-six desks has been been visited by every one of the delivery clerks. This takes about ten minutes. The settling clerk then runs over the accounts and makes up a statement, which he hands to the delivery clerk, who takes it to his bank. This statement shows how much money is due from and how much is owing to the other banks of the association. This statement is proved and checked off by the clerks in the banks, and at 12:30 o'clock the delivery clerk returns to the clearing house with packages of cash to settle the balances of his bank. These are paid in order to the settling clerks. During the year 1895 the transac-tions of the New York clearing house have amounted to $30,160,953,475, of which $1,896,-574,349 was cash. The average daily transactions for the year were $98,888,272. The total transactions since its organization forty-two years ago amount to the enormous sum of $1,122,976,771,531, and $49,463,653 -582 in cash has been handled over its coun-
